

Sunday May 7th

I hope that everyone has a nice weekend! It has been nice seeing the sun and it seems like it is finally going to warm up!

We have been learning about the life cycle of our butterflies. The class has enjoyed looking at the caterpillars - even though some of them said EWWW! 😊 The caterpillars turned into chrysalises mid-week last week and today I discovered 2 butterflies! We should get a few more over the next day or two.

The Spring Book Fair will take place from May 8th - May 12th. Book fair will be open at drop off and pick up. There will be teacher wish lists for their classrooms as well!

Our class will be having our own Alex's Lemonade Stand on May 11th. Please arrive at 11:45. Please park upstairs and walk down to the lower parking lot. Our class will have their stand set up and your children will be ready to serve you some lemonade. All monetary donations go to help end childhood cancer.

Our last day of class will be on May 25th. Clem Bowen will be here that day! He is so much fun with his instruments and songs. Always a big hit!!

I would encourage all of you to work on potty training your children this summer. Summer is a great time to start!! The three year old teachers would appreciate it too!!! 😊

Thank you for sharing your children with us!

Susan and Ryan